Computerized Stress Assessment

Feel better than you ever thought possible!

The Computerized Stress Assessment System is a comfortable, non-invasive analysis of your body's personal stress profile. This system helps us design a program that fits your unique needs. Addressing these needs accelerates healing because we focus on those treatments to which your body responds best, saving you time and money.

See what others are saying... "Since the introduction of LIMBIC (LSA) to my wife and I, we have received a peace of mind about our health and healthcare. The LSA enables us to know exactly what is going on with the nutrient content of our bodies." NB

'For many years I suffered one health crisis after another and gradually grew weaker with each one. I did not find satisfactory answers with conventional medicine. I began reading about natural remedies and came across LSA testing. I was introduced to Leesa a year ago. She did not know or ask for my medical history, yet during one hour of LSA testing, she diagnosed problems which have gone undetected for the previous 20 years. Subsequent visits provided equally reliable indications on the status of my health. As I underwent cleanses and the rebuilding process utilizing homeopathy remedies, essential vitamins, minerals, digestive enzymes and probiotics, my body began to heal. As a result of my healing, my husband, other family members, and friends have participated in the testing with great success.' DD
